

Are You Looking For A Vacation Opportunity

Have you had time to work on your tan? Many of us would answer no to this question, and for good reason. We work day-in and day-out with the hope that one of these days a vacation opportunity will present itself.

At United American we appreciate all those long days, and some nights of hard work you put in. This is why we are presenting you with your vacation opportunity — a working vacation opportunity!

Put your production into high gear and you could be on your way to United American's 2002 Sales Conference. First you will be whisked away to the fabulous city of Miami where you will board Carnival's Fun Ship Fascination destined for the Bahamas.

From the international city of Freeport on Grand Bahama to the pink-sand beaches of Harbour Island, the Bahamas offers a wide variety of vacation opportunities —
